Dear [redacted]

STAT

I am writing to inquire about the status of the transcript of our interview.

I recognize that this hardly falls among your priorities, but for the sake of accuracy, if for no other reason, we are anxious to receive your corrections. This is especially true in light of your earlier comment to me that the original transcript did contain some errors.

We have completed numerous drafts of the chapter on congressional relations and are looking forward to final revisions and editing. Hence, the timing of this letter.

I'm sorry to have to bother you with this, but I know you share our desire to make our history as accurate as possible. And I think you would be pleased to see how many of your insights worked their way into my chapter. Certainly talking with you greatly helped me in grappling with this subject.

Once more, please be assured of our appreciation for your assistance. I can be reached at [redacted] if you need to get in touch with me.

STAT

Yours sincerely,

Staff Historian
